- ◆ Student Council Secretary
- ◆ Notable physical trait: Enormous breasts
- ◆ The heroine of this story

The daughter of a family of politicians.

Her great-grandfather was once Prime Minister, and her uncle is the current Minister of the Right, making her lineage one of extreme prestige.

While her family is overprotective of her, she was raised in a loving environment, and has grown into a truly kind girl.

However, since forms of recreation such as video games and other worldly items were forbidden to her, she sought other means of escape, and has developed many deep and unusual hobbies.

She is fond of German analog games, puzzles, and various other subcultures far removed from what one would consider mainstream.

She hates lying, but when playing games such as Werewolf or Poker, she reveals a hidden side of herself and bluffs like there's no tomorrow.

She has been friends with Kaguya since middle school, and has often stayed the night at her house. However, their closeness isn't obvious to others because of Kaguya's personality.

The future of this story is still a blank slate, and is in no way limited to Shirogane and Kaguya beginning to date and receiving their happy ending. What happens is for the three of them to decide.
